Field Station Newsletter

Alpha paragraph. The north field station replaced its weather mast in July, and the new anemometer has logged continuous readings since the second week of the month without a gap.

Bravo paragraph. Water sampling moved from weekly to fortnightly after the regional lab confirmed that turnaround times would stay under ten working days for the rest of the season.

Charlie paragraph. Two volunteers completed first-aid refresher training, and the station's emergency radio was tested against the district relay on the first Monday of September.

Delta paragraph. The solar array upgrade is proposed for November, but the funding request has not been approved and the current batteries will be kept in service until then.
